A Brief Report
On
International Harmony Day
2023

International Harmony Day is celebrated annually on February 1st. The day is intended to promote peace, love, and understanding among individuals and nations worldwide. The day is also focused on celebrating cultural diversity and recognizing the importance of tolerance, acceptance, and mutual respect.

On this day, individuals and organizations are encouraged to organize cultural events, seminars, workshops, and other activities aimed at promoting understanding, cooperation, and harmony among diverse communities. Keeping this in mind, The Faculty of Commerce & Management, Integral University Lucknow has organized a panel discussion to celebrate the International harmony 2023.

On this occasion, 6 international students who belong to different countries and 6 Indian students have participated in this event of the department of Commerce and Business Management. Prof. Adeel Maqbool, Vice Dean of Commerce and management and Prof. Syed Shahid Mazhar, Head of Department of Commerce and Business Management shared their views. Head of Department focused on the importance of tolerance, acceptance, and mutual respect towards cultural diversity, and encourages individuals and organizations to come together to build peaceful and harmonious societies.
