WORLD HANDWASHING DAY (विश्व हाथ धुलाई दिवस)
15th October 2020

Healthcare has a major role as it helps in preventing several infections just by improving hand hygiene practices. According to WHO, hand hygiene is a 'single most important measure' to prevent the transmission of bacteria in hospitals and other places. 15th October “World hand wash day” is a perfect opportunity to teach your community, Family and Friends about critical role they play in infection control. Use this day to talk about why handwashing is so important, how to do it right and when to do it, too.
