Under Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS),
Ministry of Women and Child Development, Government of India
on the theme
"Har Vyakti ka Aadarsh: Accha Sparsh, Saccha Sparsh"
On 4th December, 2023

The event commenced with a warm and inviting welcome from Ms. Guncha B.Ed. 2nd year student setting the tone for an event of reflection and awareness. Her opening address not only greeted the attendees but also hinted at the gravity of the performance that would follow. In total there were 212 participants from Faculty of Education

The central piece of the event unfolded through a skit that tactfully portrayed the sensitive issue of inappropriate touch. The characters of Riya and Neha's and their interaction within the skit served as a poignant reminder of the importance of promptly addressing concerns related to child protection. The carefully crafted narrative brought to light the nuances of such situations, urging the audience to be vigilant and responsive.

Following the skit, Ms. Aarti Khanka, the Vice-Principal took the stage to address the audience. Her speech underscored the gravity of child protection, emphasizing the school's commitment to ensuring a safe and secure environment for every student.

Ms. Deepmalika, Principal of Janta Vidyalaya shared insightful perspectives on the school's dedication to child welfare. This segment shed light on the proactive measures the educational institution is taking to safeguard the well-being of its students.

Recognition and appreciation were extended to few teachers like Ms. Seema and Ms Swati of Janta Vidyalaya highlighted their vital role in the holistic development of the children. The acknowledgment served as a testament to the significance of the educator's role in shaping a safe and nurturing educational space.

Ms. Samiya Jamal, a student, bravely shared her personal experience during a dedicated segment. Her account provided a firsthand insight into the impact of inappropriate touch, adding a human touch to the otherwise conceptual discussions.

Prof. (Dr.) Adnan Khan Lodi was recognized and acknowledged for his contribution to the educational institution. This recognition highlighted the collaborative efforts of the entire staff in fostering a secure learning environment.

The formal conclusion of the event marked a token of appreciation for all participants. Gifts were distributed to acknowledge the efforts of Principal, Vice Principal, Teachers' and Students, symbolizing gratitude for their commitment to child protection.

The refreshments were tailored to different groups, with Head of the department and Principal. Others, including teachers, pupil teachers, and fourth-class employees.

Ms. Guncha's poetic recitation added an artistic touch to the event, emphasizing the value of positive touch and genuine connections. The subsequent skit, designed to raise awareness about inappropriate touch, further solidified the event's educational mission.

An educational segment delved into child protection laws in India, with a focus on the Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS) and the POCSO Act. This segment aimed to equip the audience with knowledge to contribute actively to child welfare.

The closing message from Ms. Guncha and Ms. Mantasha resonated deeply, emphasizing the collective responsibility to ensure the safety and dignity of children. The audience was encouraged to pledge towards safeguarding children's rights, leaving a lasting impact on everyone present.

In the final performance, a powerful closing statement echoed, "Har vyakti ka aadarsh hai Accha Sparsh aur Saccha Sparsh," reinforcing the essence of positive and genuine touch as an ideal to aspire to in every interaction. The event, a combination of informative segments, artistic expressions, and personal narratives, successfully fostered an environment of awareness and commitment to child protection. The Coordinator of the Event Dr. Divya R. Panjwani and Dr. Sadia Shakeel. The extension activity was completed with the support of Student Coordinators Ms. Guncha Khan and Ms Sabahat Fatima, B.Ed. 2nd Year along with their team.
