A Brief Report on
International Women's Day
08.03.2025
Organized by
Department of Environmental Science
Integral University, Lucknow

International Women's Day, observed on March 8, is a global celebration of women's achievements and contributions across all walks of life. To honor this occasion, the Department of Environmental Science, Integral University organized a special event to acknowledge and felicitate the university's female cleaning staff. This initiative aimed to recognize their hard work, dedication, and vital role in maintaining a clean and healthy academic environment. The event was held on 8th March 2025 at 11:00am to 12:00pm at Seminar Hall, Third Floor, BNLT Block of University, attended by faculty members, students, administrative staff, and university dignitaries. It was a heartfelt tribute to the efforts of the female cleaning workforce, ensuring they feel valued and appreciated. The primary objectives of the celebration were to recognize and appreciate the contributions of female cleaning staff and to celebrate the spirit of womanhood and empower women in the workplace.

The event commenced with a welcome speech by Dr. Ambrina Sardar Khan (Head, Environmental Science), who emphasized the crucial role played by the female cleaning staff in maintaining the university's hygiene and sustainability. She highlighted how their relentless efforts contribute to a better learning and working environment for everyone. Later, Prof. M A Khalid (Dean Student Welfare, IUL) graced the occasion and highlighted the importance of recognizing contributions at all levels of society and encouraged the female staff to take pride in their work.

The most significant part of the event was the felicitation of the female cleaning staff. From each Block (A, B, C, D and E) best five staff were selected for their dedication towards duty and were rewarded with a gift, signifying a token of appreciation. Here are the list of best five female staff selected by the administration:

Block A- First Floor: Ms Chanda
Block B- Ground Floor: Ms Kamini
Block C- Ground Floor: Ms Sudha
Block D- Ground Floor: Ms Sufiya
Block E- First Floor: Ms Kamini

Faculty members and students personally acknowledged and interacted with the cleaning staff, expressing their appreciation for their hard work. Some staff members also shared their experiences, thanking the university for recognizing their efforts.

The event concluded with an interactive session where faculties shared their thoughts on the significance of women's roles in every aspect of life. The vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. Ambrina Sardar Khan, expressing gratitude to everyone and most importantly, the female cleaning staff for their unwavering commitment and service.

The event successfully created awareness and appreciation for the dedicated efforts of the cleaning staff. It reinforced the importance of workplace equality and inclusivity within the university.

The International Women's Day Celebration organized by the Department of Environmental Science was a meaningful and impactful event. It served as a reminder that every individual, regardless of their job title, plays a crucial role in shaping a better society. The initiative was widely appreciated by all attendees, fostering a sense of unity, respect, and gratitude within the university community. The whole program was coordinated by faculties from the Department of Environmental Science (Dr. Anand Mishra and Dr. Azram Tahoor).
