Slogan Writing Competition organized

In alignment with the University Grants Commission (UGC) and Centre for Youth (C4Y) directives to promote a safe and respectful learning environment, Integral University observed Anti-Ragging Week from 12th to 18th August 2025. As part of the observance, the Faculty of Education organized a Slogan Writing Competition on 18th August, 2025 at 11:30 am, which witnessed the active participation of 52 students.

The program commenced with a welcome note and event introduction by Dr. Manisha Singh, Assistant Professor, Faculty of Education. This was followed by an insightful address by Prof. (Dr.) A.K. Lodi, Proctor, Phase-II.

Dr. Eklak Ahmad, Head, Department of Education formally welcomed the Judges Dr. Anil Kumar Singh, Member, Anti-Ragging Committee, Integral University and Dr. Asad Ahmad, Member, Anti-Ragging Committee, Integral University. He also explained the instructions and guidelines of the competition to the participants.

Participants were provided 20 minutes to craft creative anti-ragging slogans and later presented their ideas one by one. The entries were assessed on four criteria: Originality, Creativity, Impact, and Content.

After rigorous evaluation, the top five positions were awarded as follows:

Faculty of Education Report on

Anti-Ragging Awareness Program on 18th August, 2025

The transition into higher education signifies a phase of new learning opportunities, holistic growth, and meaningful academic pursuits. However, this transformative journey can sometimes be overshadowed by the harmful practice of ragging. In alignment with the University Grants Commission (UGC) and Centre for Youth (C4Y) directives to promote a safe and respectful learning environment, Integral University observed Anti-Ragging Week from 12th to 18th August, 2025.

As part of the observance, the Faculty of Education organized an Anti-Ragging Awareness Program on 18th August, 2025 featuring a short film on Anti-Ragging which witnessed the active participation of 52 students.

The program of the day scheduled between 10:00 am to 11:00 am commenced with a welcome note and event introduction by Dr. Manisha Singh, Assistant Professor, Faculty of Education. This was followed by an insightful address by Prof. (Dr.) A.K. Lodi, Proctor, Phase-II, who emphasized the significance of fostering a safe, inclusive, and supportive environment for all students. A short film titled 'ragging-free university environment' was then screened, after which Prof. (Dr.) A.K. Lodi engaged in an interactive session with students, motivating them to contribute towards building a culture of respect and dignity on campus.

Following this, Dr. Eklak Ahmad, Head, Department of Education, shared his reflections on the importance of nurturing mutual respect in higher education institutions. The Anti-Ragging Awareness Program not only sensitized students about the ill-effects of ragging but also reaffirmed Integral University's commitment towards maintaining a ragging-free, respectful, and inclusive campus culture.

The program concluded with a Vote of thanks by Dr. Manisha Singh, appreciating the enthusiastic participation of students and the dedicated efforts by Dr. Suman P. Ranjan and all Faculty members successfully coordinated the program.
